HOTELS WITH HEART & SOUL

Thainstone House, Inverurie

Chef de Partie

“Quod Petis Hic Est”

Thainstone House is a grand family home and hotel in Inverurie, near Aberdeen. The house dates back to the 18th century and has a rich history as both a grand private home and as a much loved Aberdeenshire landmark. Now lovingly restored, this elegant Aberdeen hotel welcomes its guests with traditional Scottish hospitality.

Thainstone House is home to the 2AA Rosette awarded The Green Lady restaurant, as well as the more informal, Stockman’s bar. Weddings and events also make up a part of our business, hosting functions from 18 to up to 400 guests.

The Role:

Thainstone House has a fantastic reputation as a destination hotel. The talented team of chefs work tirelessly to maintain the well-deserved 2AA Rosette level it currently holds. There is a strong emphasis on producing modern British cuisine using ingredients sourced as locally as possible and keeping with the changing seasons.

The large modern kitchen is well equipped to deal with conference and banqueting as well as a strong trade from both the restaurant and the more informal bar option for dining guests. We have a jospo oven which is a combination of oven and grill, that gives the food a juicy and smokey touch.
